Distinguished Guest,

"Federation of Investment Promotion Agencies of China" (hereinafter referred to as FIPAC) is a national investment promotion platform and meeting mechanism under the advocacy and support from the Ministry of Commerce, P. R. C. FIPAC was spontaneously founded by 16 local investment promotion agencies in 2002 and operated on the principle of annual rotating presidency. The purpose of FIPAC is to release the trend of transnational investment, to learn advanced investment promotion ideas and models, and to reform and innovate China’s investment promotion mechanism from an international perspective; FIPAC also conducts researches on the investment environment in key areas or fields, promotes effective investment promotion resources and facilitates implementation of key local investment projects. Since its establishment, FIPAC has successfully held twelve sessions of annual conference in Beijing, Guangzhou, Shanghai, Chengdu, Shenzhen, Kunming, Tianjin, Qingdao, Chongqing, Nanjing, Nanchang and many other places, and gained great participation and high evaluation from all levels of commerce departments, investment promotion agencies, economic and technological development zones, multinational corporations, state-owned as well as private enterprises, financial investment institutions, industrial and academic institutions. It has become an important platform through which the Ministry of Commerce (MOFCOM) guides national investment promotion. Since July 2006, FIPAC continually carried out various business operations as a branch of China Council for International Investment Promotion (CCIlIP).

According to its annual work plan, “‘One Road One Belt’ International Investment Promotion Forum & The 13th Conference of Federation of Investment Promotion Agencies of China” will be held on September 23, 2015 in Xi'an City, Shaanxi Province during the 2015 Asia Europe Economic Forum. The theme is “to Recreate the Glory of the Silk Road Region & to Expand the Fields of the Investment Promotion Work”. The meeting will invite relevant representatives from the Ministry of Commerce to deliver speeches on the implementation of the national investment promotion strategy in the new era and senior officials from the investment and enterprise division of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development to analyze the latest trend of cross-border investment flows and advise on the investment cooperation areas along the Silk Road. Other speakers include representatives of multinational companies, well-known domestic enterprises, financial institutions, domestic and foreign policy research institutes and investment promotion experts, who will talk on the policy, strategy and successful cases related to the economic cooperation along the Silk Road. In addition, the meeting will award the outstanding investment promotion agency and project, promote Xi’an city’s key cooperation projects, elect the new annually rotating chairman of FIPAC and organize delegates to have an in-depth discussion and exchange over the new opportunities and challenges in investment promotion work.

We cordially invite you (or your deputy) to attend the 13th Conference of FIPAC and other activities of 2015 Asia Europe Economic Forum and hope that you will have a fruitful networking with other participants there. The local accommodation will be born by us. We look forward to your reply and hope to see you in Xi’an.

Zhou Ming
Executive Vice President
China Council for International Investment Promotion